

Abstract of the Disclosure

Systems and methods for performing wireless networking are disclosed. The systems and methods include using multiple channels of a wireless network interface to send and receive data simultaneously. Aspects of the system and methods include load balancing, error 5 correction, and link aggregation over the multiple wireless channels.